

Tally of Telephone Conversations with Sally Jacobs (Obtained via Verizon Call Log)

December 16, 2016, 65 minutes (initial call)

March 30th, 32 mins

April 13th, 24 mins

April 14th, 21 minutes (some of this time was spent complaining about her unprofessionalism (treating me like a research assistant) and concerns about co-opting of my work); I also made the same complaint to her producer Josh Swartz. Email follow-up is quoted in the article comment.

Comment: Arica, regards. My name is Sally Jacobs and I am a reporter in Boston working with WGBH public radio on a story about interracial marriage in light of the Supreme Court ruling anniversary coming up next year.

I am wondering if you might have a minute to talk?

I can call you whenever it might be convenient, or I can be reached at 617-680-7069.

My email is sallyhjacobsgmail.com. Many thanks.

Arica, regards and Happy New Year. I am following up our conversation of a couple of weeks ago regarding the Lovings and interracial marriage. I am wondering if you have a minute to talk as I have a couple of small questions. Also, you had thought you might have contact information for Louis Jeter or Peggy Fortune. I am around until early afternoon if you are free. Thanks much.

Sally

Arica, regards. This is from Sally Jacobs the Boston reporter who talked with you a couple of months ago about the Loving case. I am sorry to trouble you again, but I am back at work on this piece and wondering if I can have a few more minutes of your time as you are so very expert on this matter. I am doing a piece for WGBH radio on Mildred's racial identity (you know, the subject I have published on for almost two decades) as we discussed. Please let me know if this might be possible.

Many thanks.

Sally

Arica, great to talk with you. I'll send you some general outlines of what I would like to quote you on before the recording. It would be terrific if you are able to get that person to talk to me off the record about the historic marker. I'd love to track that down!

Thanks

Sally

March 31, 2017

Aric, sorry. One more thing. Do you have a copy of Mildred's Social Security card/application that I believe says she was Negro?

Note: I talk about the SS application in my book.

Arica, thank you so much for this. One small thing. I can not see the writing on Mildred's birth certificate. Any chance you might be able to send in a different format?

Thanks. Talk to you on Monday. Details to come.

Best

Sally

Note: By this point I had lost my patience with Jacobs and told her so. I also complained to her producer Josh Swartz that his reporter was treating me like “The Help,” rather than the expert that I am. As for the birth certificate, I told Jacobs to use a magnifying glass!

May 24, 2017, She still don't get it.

Arica, hi. Hope this finds you well. I am wrapping up the story and doing some fact checking and hoping I can verify one thing w you. On the subject of Mildred's identity (of course!) I believe she is identified as Negro in the 1940 US Census, correct? The copy I have is not the clearest, so want to check in with you on this. Thanks so much. Thanks again for everything.

Best,
Sally
